We will remember!

Dear Parents,

This week we saw our first Parents Evening together. It was so lovely to have you in school, even if we had wait outside, it was great to talk to you and share some lovely cakes whilst you waited. A huge thank you to Ann Smart for making the cakes- they were delicious as always. Thank you to Mrs Christopher for helping to serve teas during the start of the afternoon too.

On Thursday we observed a minute's silence. The children were wonderful as always. So respectful and quiet whilst we reflected. They also produced some lovely pieces of artwork which is currently attached to our school fence. Many thanks to Andy for helping put these up at the front.

This coming week is Anti Bullying week and Monday is Odd Socks Day- a moment to respect differences and individuality. As the majority of our children are in on Tuesdays, we will do our school Odd Sock Day then. No donations or collections needed; the children simply wear Odd Socks.

In the Acorns class, they brought Hansel and Gretel story to life, following Gretel's breadcrumbs across the playground. In Oaks, I was very impressed by the improvements made in their handwriting when I popped in this week, they were really keen to show me their work. They have also been working really hard on their multiplication calculations. Our full time children have been working on Remembrance Day themed work, using imagery to help describe given scenes and reflecting on emotive writing. They also made some wonderful mud monsters in the trees during their Forest Friday session.

Have a lovely weekend,
Take care
